

The European Journal of Policing Studies focuses on issues that are of interest to the police and other actors in policing, and that shape (the future of) policing in Europe. The Journal now has an open call for papers! Authors are invited to submit papers on topical discussions on policing, a state of affairs with regard to policing issues in specific regions, or on recent (empirical) research. Please visit www.maklu-online.eu for further information or contact us at policingstudies@gmail.com.

EJPS also publishes special issues. If you are interested in hosting a special issue as a guest editor, feel free to contact us at policingstudies@gmail.com.
